Business

- July Budget Report:
  - Unable to put together a budget at the time of the meeting. $2952 made from online sales so far. The masks should be available online by the end of the week. A budget report will hopefully be sent out by the end of the month.
- Dues Discussion:
    - Not for vote
  - Should we consider giving those members who paid dues this year a discount for next year?
    - When looking at the budget that was approved at the January LEC, we had the majority of our profit coming from properties. Given the lack of weekends and other events this year, we can't reasonably transfer the money from elsewhere. This trend will likely continue for the remainder of the year. Given that, the money we made from dues is being used for general Lodge fees (mailings, charter fees, recognitions, etc.), meaning we can't consider giving a refund. It will be very difficult to break even at the conclusion of this year, much less make a profit.
    - Would it be possible to discount the turtle pass for the next year instead of discounting all the dues?
      - Used for weekends, rather than everything Lodge related. By not having weekends, the weekends costs have not been incurred at all this year.
      - Should the turtle pass carry over for those members next year, or at least give them a discounted rate as well?
        - The turtle pass is already paid for next year for those who already paid this year.
    - A more informed decision should be made next month after seeing a budget.
  - The membership committee will bring up the conversation again next month
- Momentum Reimbursement:
  - The Momentum event is now a virtual only event taking place on the 4-6 of August. There are both a free and a paid version of the event.
  - Does the LEC think it is reasonable to A.) open this to everyone in the Lodge and B.) have the Lodge pay the $30 for the paid version?
    - There wasn't a lot of interest in the original Momentum (in-person) so there might not be much interest for this
    - All of the NOAC refunds have been processed, so we don't have excess money sitting around to pay for it. Any money would have to come from the Lodge money currently.
      - Spending operating money right now isn't a very logical move right now.

        - It's probably not worth even sending people, much less paying for it.
- Service Item:
        - Tabled until the August LEC
    - The project (ceremonial ground clean-up) would likely cost around $10,000 and would go directly towards preserving the only "untouched" ceremonial grounds we have left.
        - Where does $10,000 come from?
            - A rough estimate of material costs, but nothing exact or itemized
        - The Lodge doesn't really have the money for such a large project, especially considering Gregg's earlier suggestion to not spent any large amounts of unbudgeted money in the near future
        - Would the grounds be extensively landscaped or would it just be changing the benches?
            - Removing the top three rows of benches, and then flattening that area out so that the gator can traverse it more easily
            - Would also aid with avoiding erosion and water pooling
        - There have been problems with the wood since about 2014, but the stonework and other features are mostly in good shape.
    - A more thorough budget would be needed to actually approve such a grand sum of money
- Fall/Winter Program:
    - Inductions:
            - We currently have 190 elected members
        - The usual Ordeal work (trails, etc.) is usually already socially distant, as is the night before, but the typical weekend can very easily be modified to be completely social-distancing friendly
        - The Brotherhood can be modified to be more distant as well, with the only real obstacle being the instruction period
        - The real obstacle for any attempt at a weekend would be limiting the participation
        - Due to the nature of Ordeals/Brotherhood, a member could attend whether or not their charter organization for their unit is permitting meetings
        - Could be done almost in a Blitz style, or by chapter
            - Should be left to inductions, rather than by chapter, because it allows for better flexibility
        - Ceremonial team would have to be able to run several weekends, so the availability of the other necessary parties would also have to be taken into account whatever the decision is
    - Dinner:
        - There is a hard cap on meetings of large numbers, and any possible venues are likely already booked for weddings and the like
        - Would it be possible to have an outside dinner?

- Probably not without moving the date itself back, because an outdoor dinner in January doesn't sound entirely feasible or enjoyable
    - Fall Fellowship:
    - Elections:
        - Other Lodges have done elections virtually, and if we do choose to do it through Zoom there are ways we could do it easily
        - We could also just have those who participate in voting fill out a form that requires them to list their name so as to avoid having repeat votes
- Nominations:
    - Treasurer:
        - No new nominations
    - Secretary:
        - Kyle Rothbell (Declined)
        - Jason Abuiso (Declined)
    - Vice Chief:
        - No new nominations
    - Chief:
        - No new nominations

- Any venturers who would like to join the VOA meeting on the third monday of the month, please do so. Reach out to Will Beardsley or Michaela Donnelly.
- Kyle is now the History Chair, and Rhys is now Co-Advisor the History Committee

Staff Adviser Minute: John Bickel

- Appreciate everyone helping brainstorm ideas for safe gatherings again
- This situation is ever evolving, so please continue thinking about how to modify plans to try and be in person
- Rangers have started to contact people who are able to help with camp maintenance, so if you are contacted please consider helping, and a big thank you to those who have

Lodge Adviser Minute: Dennis Abernethy

- The new normal is very different from what we were used to, so it is key, now more than ever, to have complete communication and understanding of what will happen
- We need to look at our council's FAQs to be in the know

Chief Minute: Luke Cihak

- Thank you to everyone who came out tonight, especially given that we don't usually have meetings during the summer
- Shoutout to Rhys for really growing and flourishing during his years in the Lodge
- Would like to see Aaron come back next month with a more finalized budget for next month
- Hopefully the Budget will be out soon!
